

It is vital that the media in this country are free to present a wide variety of viewpoints on public issues and are not subject to the bias and censorship made possible by large scale ownership of the outlets.